What Parents & Educators Need to Know about SPORTS BETTING ONLINE

Sports betting online involves placing wagers on real-world sporting events through websites, apps, and linked accounts. In the UK, licensed gambling is illegal for under-18s, yet young people may still encounter betting through sports coverage, social media, gaming spaces, friends, or adult accounts. With gambling content increasingly visible online, parents and educators should help children understand the risks, financial impact, pressure, and how to make safer choices.

WHAT ARE THE RISKS?

EASY ONLINE ACCESS
Online sports betting sites and apps are widely available and can be accessed through phones, tablets, computers, and, indirectly, gaming or social platforms. Some young people may attempt to bypass age checks using false details or someone else's account. Digital wallets, prepaid cards, and saved payment details can also make spending harder to notice, increasing the risk of discreet or impulsive betting.

PEER AND INFLUENCER PRESSURE
Social media influencers, online tipsters, and sports content creators can make betting appear fun, profitable, or part of being a committed fan. Young people may feel pressure to copy this behaviour, especially when friends talk about odds, accumulators, or predictions during matches. Gambling advertising rules aim to protect under-18s, but children can still see persuasive betting content in online spaces.

FREE BET OFFERS
Online betting platforms often use free bets, bonus credits, or 'risk-free' promotions to attract users. These offers can make gambling seem safe or low commitment, but they usually include terms and conditions that young people may not understand. A free incentive can lead to real spending, repeated deposits, or the belief that gambling is easier to control than it is.

CHASING WINS AND LOSSES
A winning bet can create excitement and encourage a young person to try again, while a losing bet may lead them to place another wager to win back the money. This is known as chasing losses. Because online bets can be quick, small, and available at any time, children may not recognise how rapidly repeated decisions can become costly and emotionally harmful.

NORMALISING GAMBLING BEHAVIOUR
Online sports betting can make gambling feel like a routine part of watching sport. Young people may begin to see odds, predictions, and wagers as harmless entertainment rather than as financial risk. This can also blur boundaries with other gambling-like activities, including loot boxes, skin betting, or casino-style games, making later gambling feel more acceptable or familiar.

ADVERTISING AROUND SPORT
Young people can be exposed to betting brands through sports broadcasts, social media, sponsorship, pitch-side advertising, and content linked to major fixtures. Repeated exposure may make gambling seem normal, glamorous, or expected as part of the sport. Without adult guidance, children may connect betting with excitement, loyalty, and success, rather than understanding that gambling is designed to make money from customers.

Advice for Parents & Educators

START EARLY CONVERSATIONS
Talk openly with children about how betting works, including odds, losses, advertising, and the fact that gambling companies are commercial businesses. Use examples they may recognise, such as betting adverts during football matches, influencer predictions, or online tipsters. Keep the tone calm and curious, so that children feel able to ask questions, share concerns, and discuss pressure from friends without fearing punishment.

SET SAFER BOUNDARIES
Use device, app store, and bank settings to limit spending, block gambling transactions where possible, and require adult approval for purchases. Check payment histories for unfamiliar withdrawals, digital wallet use, or repeated small transactions. These safeguards work best alongside clear conversations, helping children understand that online payments are still real money, even when they feel quick, hidden, or invisible.

EXPLORE ONLINE EXPOSURE
Ask which apps, websites, games, sports channels, and social media accounts children use around live sport. Betting content may appear through adverts, sponsorship, livestreams, tipster pages, or discussions between friends. Watching a match together can help you point out gambling messaging in real time and explain how it is designed to influence choices, normalise betting, and encourage spending.

NOTICE AND SEEK SUPPORT
Look out for secrecy around devices, sudden interest in odds, requests for money, unexplained spending, mood changes linked to sports results, or late-night phone use. Respond with support first, then gather information and seek specialist advice where needed. Organisations such as GambleAware, Ygam, GAMSTOP, and the Gambling Commission provide information about gambling harms, education, blocking tools, and support routes.

Sports betting has become increasingly visible across apps, websites, social platforms and sports coverage, making it easier for young people to encounter gambling messages before they are old enough to take part legally. This guide explores how betting content can appear through adverts, influencers, tipsters, friends, gaming spaces and even adult accounts.

It also highlights the risks of impulsive spending, chasing losses, 'free bet' offers and the way gambling can become normalised around sport. With practical advice on starting calm conversations, spotting warning signs, setting safer digital boundaries and finding support, the guide helps parents and educators approach the topic with confidence.

Attendance - Reporting Absences

A polite reminder to all parents and carers: when informing the school of your child's absence, please include specific details of their symptoms if they are unwell. Messages such as "not well" or "feeling poorly" do not give us enough information to record the absence accurately.

Please ensure that all absences are reported before 9:00am by leaving a voicemail or emailing us at:

ctk_parentlink@hccmac.co.uk

Thank you for your cooperation in helping us keep our records clear and accurate.

Understanding Sensory Difficulties in Children (0-10 years)

Early recognition. Early support.
Stronger futures.

SEN AWARENESS FOR PARENTS
Helping you recognise sensory differences early so you can support your child to thrive at home, in school and in life.

SEN FOCUSED SESSION

SEN

IN THIS SESSION YOU WILL LEARN:

- ✓ What sensory processing is and how it affects daily life
- ✓ Early signs of sensory difficulties to look out for
- ✓ How sensory challenges can impact behaviour, learning, eating, sleep and more
- ✓ Practical strategies to support your child at home and in daily routines

Friday 10th July 2025 | 9:15 – 11:15 am | Pathways Family Hub Radford

A supportive session for parents. Come along, learn, connect and feel more confident in supporting your child.

Many children show sensory differences long before anyone realises what they are.

Many children show sensory differences long before anyone realises what they are.

This session is designed to help parents understand how children interact with the world through their sensory system and how sensory processing difficulties can impact behaviour, emotions, learning, eating, sleep, movement, attention, and daily life.

Parents are often picking up important clues without realising it.

For example:

- difficulty learning to feed themselves
- constantly crashing, climbing, or seeking movement
- sensitivity to noise, clothing, smells, or textures
 - difficulty sitting still or focusing
 - meltdowns in busy environments
 - avoiding messy play
 - chewing, fidgeting, or sensory seeking behaviours
 - emotional overwhelm after school

We will explore how the brain processes sensory information and how differences in sensory processing can affect children both at home and in school.

This SEN-focused parent session will also help families understand:
sensory seeking and sensory avoiding behaviours

- proprioception, vestibular, and interoception difficulties
 - why some children become overwhelmed so easily
- how sensory difficulties are often misunderstood as “bad behaviour”
 - practical ways to support regulation and reduce overwhelm

The aim of this session is to help parents recognise sensory differences early, understand what they may be seeing, and feel more confident supporting their child's needs.
