

CHRIST THE KING CATHOLIC PRIMARY

WEEKLY SCHOOL NEWSLETTER – Friday 3rd July 2026

TRANSITION DAY

On Wednesday, the children enjoyed an exciting Transition Day as they prepared for the next stage of their learning journey. Pupils in Years 1-5 met their new teachers at CTK, while our current Year 6 children spent the day visiting their new secondary schools.

At CTK, we began the morning by gathering together for an assembly at each site. At the WHR site, the children listened to the story, The Koala Who Could, which helped them think about change and new experiences. At SL site, children delighted everyone with a performance showcasing some of the music they have been learning during their weekly music lessons.

In the afternoon, the children took part in a creative art activity linked to the Eucharist. The artwork provided an opportunity for reflection and helped the children consider the importance of community, sharing and thanksgiving as they look ahead to the new school year.

It was wonderful to see the children approach the day with enthusiasm, confidence and excitement for the year ahead.

SCHOOL MASS

OUR MISSION THIS WEEK

THE MISSION

SAINTS PETER AND PAUL

SAY A PRAYER EACH DAY FOR POPE LEO. AS CATHOLICS, WE SHOULD ALWAYS PRAY FOR THE HOLY SPIRIT TO GUIDE THE POPE. EACH DAY THIS WEEK, REMEMBER THE POPE IN PRAYER. SAY SOMETHING LIKE "LORD JESUS, PLEASE BLESS POPE LEO. GUIDE HIM IN ALL HIS DECISIONS AND HELP HIM TO SHARE YOUR LOVE WITH THE WORLD. AMEN."

10 Top Tips for Parents and Educators
MANAGING DIGITAL BOUNDARIES FOR CHILDREN UNDER FIVE

Screens are part of everyday life, but they should not take over early childhood routines. For under-fives, healthy digital habits are built through simple, steady boundaries that protect sleep, play, connection, and development. Current UK guidance advises avoiding screen time for children under two – except for shared activities such as video calls – while children aged two to five should ideally have no more than one hour a day.

- ASK A GROWN-UP FIRST
For under-fives, autonomy is important, but not when it comes to choosing digital content. Establish an "ask a grown-up first" rule early, whether at home or in an early years setting. Adults should choose the video, app, or game, therefore helping children avoid unsuitable content and understand that devices are tools to be guided, not toys to control.
- PROTECT SLEEP BUFFERS
Screens can make it harder for young children to wind down, especially when content is bright, noisy, or fast-paced. Aim for a screen-free hour before sleep or start with 30 minutes if that feels more realistic. Use this time for calming routines such as stories, both time, quiet play, or cuddles, helping children recognise that bedtime is approaching.
- CO-VIEW AND CHAT
Screen time is safer and more meaningful when adults are involved. Sit with children, even briefly, and talk about what they're watching. Ask simple questions like "what can you see?" or "how does that character feel?" This turns passive viewing into shared interaction, supports language development, and helps adults spot adverts, unsuitable content, or confusing messages.
- KEEP DEVICES HIDDEN
Young children are more likely to ask for screens when they can see or reach them. Keep devices out of sight when they're not being used, and consider casting content to a shared screen instead of handing over a phone or tablet to a child. This reduces private scrolling, supports shared viewing, and helps adults stay in control of what appears next.
- PLAN THE TRANSITION
The hardest part of screen time is often stopping. Before the screen goes off, tell the child what's coming next and offer two acceptable choices, such as blocks or drawing. This gives them a sense of agency without removing the boundary. A planned next activity prevents a sudden gap, which can quickly become frustration or distress.
- LEAD BY EXAMPLE
Children notice adult habits long before they understand adult explanations. If they're expected to put their screens away, they need to see adults doing the same thing during meals, play, and conversations. Create a shared "phone home", such as a basket or shelf, to show that technology has a place in daily life but does not need constant attention.
- MAKE SCREENS PREDICTABLE
Young children do not always understand minutes, but they quickly learn patterns. When screen time happens at a regular point in the day, it becomes a routine rather than a negotiation. Use the same start and finish signals each time, such as a timer, goodbye wave, or tidy-stew moment, so children know what to expect next.
- CREATE SCREEN ZONES
Physical boundaries help children understand digital boundaries. Keep screens out of bedrooms to protect their sleep and away from tables to preserve medicine connections. Choose one agreed "yes space", such as a shared living room area or supervised classroom corner. This makes limits feel less personal and more like a clear family or setting routine.
- USE SIMPLE SCRIPTS
Transitions are easier when children hear the same calm language each time. Use short, repeatable phrases such as "First tidy, then tablet," or "When the timer beeps, we stop." Avoid long explanations during emotional moments. Simple scripts reduce negotiation, help adults stay consistent, and give children clear expectations they can gradually understand and follow.
- PRIORITISE SLOW CONTENT
Not all screen time feels the same to a young child's brain. Fast-paced clips, loud sounds, and rapid scene changes can make it harder for some children to settle down afterwards. Choose slower content with simple stories, gentle voices, and natural pauses. Think of digital content like food, with more calm, nourishing choices than fast-paced, digital "sugar rushes".

#WakeUpWednesday The National College

Screens are now part of daily life, but for very young children, simple and predictable boundaries can make a big difference. This guide explores how adults can help under-fives build healthier digital habits by choosing content carefully, keeping devices in shared spaces, protecting bedtime routines and making screen time feel calm rather than constant.

It also highlights the importance of adult involvement, from co-viewing and chatting about what children see to modelling balanced device use ourselves. With practical scripts, transition tips and age-appropriate routines, the guide offers supportive advice for families, nurseries and early years settings looking to manage screen time with confidence.

Attendance - Reporting Absences

A polite reminder to all parents and carers: when informing the school of your child's absence, please include specific details of their symptoms if they are unwell. Messages such as "not well" or "feeling poorly" do not give us enough information to record the absence accurately.

Please ensure that all absences are reported before 9:00am by leaving a voicemail or emailing us at:

ctk_parentlink@hccmac.co.uk

Thank you for your cooperation in helping us keep our records clear and accurate.
